

Important Dates

You Have Worked Hard So Your Child Has Better Opportunities

These dates are useful to ensure that everything is in order before your child starts planning for the graduation party.

August (Of Senior Year)

This year there will be standardized tests (SAT and ACT).
The enrollment deadline is one month before the date of the test.

September

- Attend at least one college fair.
- Enroll for SAT/ACT test in the fall.

October

Submit the FAFSA.
Regardless of whether you need financial aid, it's advisable to submit this application as soon as possible.

November

Select five colleges to apply to.
Encourage your child to obtain letters of recommendation and to start writing the essay that needs to be sent along with the college application.

December

Use this month to evaluate everything your child has done or still needs to do, so everything is submitted on time.

January - February

Enrollment applications are accepted during these months.
Make sure they are all completed and submitted on time.

May

Deadline to notify the school your child has chosen.
If the institution is not appropriately notified, your child could lose his/her place in the next class.

- Make sure that your child completes all tests required by the school he/she has selected.
- Make sure that your child does not neglect his/her high school classes and grades.
